

TORI in Italy

In Positano, Shanian and Spelling strolled along the docks.

Tori Spelling went on her honeymoon to Italy and came back a virgin. While in Lake Como, the former 90210 star, who wed actor-writer Charlie Shanian July 3, was dining on trout and free-range fried chicken at Locanda dell'Isola Comacina—one of Lake Como resident George Clooney's favorite restaurants—when she was selected to participate in a local custom said to ward off an ancient curse. “She was the vestal virgin,” says the restaurant’s owner, meaning Spelling drank a brandy, sugar and coffee concoction as part of an informal pageant detailing the area’s history. The newlyweds eventually arrived in Positano, where they window-shopped for ceramics and dined on lobster.
